Dear

Here are drafts of sections for the DCI's Annual Report on New or Altered Emphases in Analysis and NFAC and Substantive Committees part^s of 1978 in Production. Please have contributors review and phone me any suggestions by 19 December at [redacted]. Please include a check on accuracy of paragraph classifications. Suggest it may be possible for you and contributors to handle review at this stage, since these sections are little changed from your input and Mr. Bowie will get a shot at the whole draft as an NFIB principal in the next few weeks.

A draft of the Quality and Analysis section for Part II issues will be along in a few days.

Thanks,

from traditional intelligence concerns, such as the strategic balance and China, to newer global preoccupations, such as the changing oil picture and the state of the world economy. Changes in the African and Middle Eastern situations in 1978 also occasioned changes in intelligence focus, while recently quiet areas such as Indochina, Afghanistan, and Iran are now receiving renewed attention.
